HALF THE DRYGOODS FIRMS IN THE CITY FICTIMIZED BY KING.

The Swindler Bas Other Aliases, but Under All His Names He Gave Fake Orders on Which Valuable Goods Were Specially Made and Sent Across the Continent. The smooth-tongued young Englishman who has then swindling dry goods firms in this city under the pretence of being Frederick King of the dry goods firm of Olds & King of Portland. Or., had two aliases added to his name yesterday, and the Ipolice believe there are many more to come. He paraded, also, it now appears. Wundt of Michaels'& Wundt and as Mr. Lester of Lester & Co., both of San Francisco.

His method of procedure was the same in all ases. He came as buver and picked out a bill f goods, using the chance, when it presented itself, to get a check or draft cashed. The draft came back, and so did the goods, after travelling across the continent, and then first hid the swindled firms know that they had had An deal with a thief

Mr. King, or Wundt, or Lester, spent part of the day in a call at Police Headquarters vesterday. The greater part of the day he was being lugged back and forth between the base-terday. The greater part of the day he was being lugget back and forth between the basement and the Captain's office to be identified by his yiellus. Among those who identified him were P. F. Sageman of 343 Broadway, who was done out of $100 after taking a fake order for $1,400 worth of hosiery, and Asher Schmid of 191 leonard street. $30 on a worthiess draft, the swindler ordering $1,400 worth of goods from them, too.

J. B. Coggingot 138 Spring street gave up a silk skirt for the swindler's wife, king promising to pay when he settled for an order for many skirts isought in the way of trade. Sigmund M. Mundt of 121 Franklin street gave un wo skirts under similar circumstances and made $340 worth of goods specially to hisfalse order. From Ash Adaeckel of 37 Union square, he got two scalskin sacques and gave a worthless check in payment. Seekle worth $40; at Thomas Kirkpatrick's Fifth herne lewelry store a diamond ring worth $300, and at the Lichtonstina Millinery Company a $50 hat, for all of which he paid with forged officer.

That was the list up to last night, but yesterday was only a helf business day and the detectives believe that it will be lengthened very much to-day. They say that King, or whatever his name is, is the eleverest kind of a swindler, and that on all accounts it is a good thing to have him safe under lock and key.

The Transport Hooker Fitting Out for Service in the Philippines.

The United States transport Hooker, which was formerly the Ceballos liner Panama, is being fitted out at the Morse Iron Works, foot of Twenty-sixth street, Brooklyn, as a cablelaying ship for use in the Philippines. work is in charge of Lieut.-Col. Manfield of the volunteer Signal Corps and has been under way more than a month. In three weeks more. it is expected, the Hooker will be ready to sail. Gen, Greely, who has taken a great personal nterest in the fitting out of the Hooker, visited her a week ago. The Hooker is the army's first cable ship.

She will lay cables between various points in the Philippines so that Gen. Otis may keep constantly in touch with all parts of his command. The changes made in the Hooker necessitated the tearing up of much of her deck and building of cable tanks in her hold, one foroutiding of cable tanks in her hold, one forward, one aft and a big one amidships. Three frums will be necessary to take up the oable and pay it out into the water.

The ship will take out a full equipment of able-cutting and repairing machinery. Lieut.—

Tol. Maxwell will be in command of the cable-aying part of the expedition. Capt. Hanlon will be the sailing master. E. W. Stevenson, cable expert, is putting the new machinery not the ship. It is said that the Hooker will return home after completing her work in the Philippines and go into the transport service. Freat Britain, it is said, has ten cable ships in tastern waters.

The Hocker, when she was the Panama, was aptured by the lighthouse tender Mangrove. The Panama left New York for Havana just thout at the time of the declaration of war to un the Havana blockade. After that the Manrove became a navaleable ship and was of treat service in cutting Spanish communications.

SPANISH FED ON FALSE NEWS. How Their Courage Was Kept Up While Dewey Was Before Manila.

Capt. H. H. Dexter of the ship Honolulu of John, N. B., which arrived here yesterday 45 days out from Manila, saw Dewey destroy he Spanish squadron, and later the bombard nent and fall of Manila. The Captain said that e had learned the great part of what had gone on under his own nose from newspapers and alks subsequent to the events themselves. His reminiscences show this, as they are a mixture if personal observations and facts of which he ecame cognizant later. The Captain is a Nova became cognizant later. The Captain is a Nova section, and his wife and two children were with him on the Honolulu, which arrived at Manila with 2,500 tons of New South Wales coal on April 25.

He told the story of the battle as it has been cold many times before and of the uncomfortable position of the uncroant shins which lay between the forts at Manila and Dewey's fleet, and how everybody attoard the merchant fleet tept ducking as the shells from the fort passed high over them toward Dewey's vessels, but alled to carry far enough.

"The Manila newgrapers," he said, "did a great deal to keep up the courage of the Spanards. One day they reported that the Baitimore was aground and another day that the chague had broken out in the American fleet. The attitude of the German Consult and German residents was also encouraging to the Spaniards.

"After the capture of the city business beran again immediately, and I got a full cargo of hemp for this port by Nov. 1. I would have been ready to sail by the last of May, probably, if it had not been for the war."

WAR ON A BREWERY TRUST.

Attorney-General Monnett of Ohio Starts on a New Monster Hunt.

CLEVELAND, O., March 31.-Attorney-General Monnett has begun war on the Cleveland brewery trust by instituting proceedings to oust the trust, otherwise known as the Cleveland and Sandusky Brewing Company, from its charter. The Atterney-General has also rendered a decision which is of vital interes to every brewer in the State, by holding that they are liable for back taxes in the sum of more than $750,000. The suit against the trust was filed in Columbus yesterday.
In an opinion handed to the State Auditor

Attorney-General Monnett save that the State can collect $752,000 in back taxes from Ohio brewers. The opinion is based on the Supreme Court decision in the Junge Brewing Company against the Champaign County Treasurer. The Brewers' Association admitted, under the decision, that the Dow tax must be paid on all denots or agencies of brewers, but contested the froposed collection of back taxes.

Going further than previous petitions of this nature, it is charged in this case that an attempt has been made to crush out competition. nature, it is charged in this case that an at-tempt has been made to crush out competition. It is alleged that the new company has tried to crush competition by buying or leasing saloon property or taking snortgages on the same at excessive rates, and then forcing the sale of its own beer by threatening saloon keepers with dispossession. Rival saloons have been established, it is asserted, to crush out those that sell other beer. It is declared that the company's charter did not permit it to acquire real estate other than that needed for its plant. The court is asked to appoint trus-tees to close the alleged beer trust's business.
